Democratic Leaders Plan To Force Garner Bill Through House

PRESIDENT OPPOSES SOME OF FEATURES

Hoover And Garner Unable To Agree On Private Loan Proposals

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Furnishing a new test of strength between President Hoover and Speaker John N. Garner, the $2,122,000,000 Garner-Wagner relief program was placed before the house today.

Confident of passage of the conference report on the measure, Democratic leaders planned to limit debate and seek a speedy decision.

Major Issue.

One major issue was created between the White House and Democratic leaders as the clash neared—the question of authorizing loans to private industry and individuals by the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The conference report permits the corporation to make these loans on adequate security, as demanded by Speaker Garner. This feature was denounced by President Hoover.

Charges of partisan politics were hurled at each other by Republicans and Democrats, with Mr. Hoover a candidate for re-election and Speaker Garner the Democraitc choice for vice-president. Equally vehement

PA NEWC OBSERVES

It's near to an art sometimes, and maybe that's why so many motorists like to risk passing street cars while the trolleys are moving in sections where space between the car and the curb is close. Along East Washington street you see more of it, but every car doesn't pass at the rate a driver did last night. Had the wrong thing happened, both trolley and auto would have piled up. Safety pays rich dividends.

Pa Newc hasn't heard of any babies being named Herbert or Franklin for the new presidential nominees yet.

A North Hill man who travelled the coast in the New England region just a week ago comes back with the belief that the whaling industry in that section has seen its heyday. At least his visit to one of the picturesque drydocked whaling boats left that impression with him. He told a different story of the Vermont ganite quarries and the marble centers. Things bustled around those places.

The Neshannock creek banks, above New Wilmington junction, are now receiving their annual visit by campers and cottagers. Every year at this time New Castle residents flock to the stream in droves. And the beautiful creek course offers good reasons to.

The government's supply of beetle traps, for use here, has been transferred to a building on the new federal site. A federal man handles the distribution. Heretofore they've been stored at the postoffice.

In all the years of Pa Newc's travels, he can't recall seeing a

(International News Service)

CHCAGO, July 7.—The opening blast of the Republican campaign to re-elect President Hoover will be fired at Faneuil hall, Boston, the night of July 11, by Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. "It is expected," Sanders said at his Chicago headquarters, "that Secretary Mills will give some facts with reference to the Democratic platform and the speech of acceptance of the Democratic nominee."

Former Property Owners Seek Harmony Route Right Of Way Land

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 7.—The right of former property owners to regain property condemned for the right of way of the Pittsburgh, Harmony, Butler and New Castle railway, defunct interurban electric line, was claimed by Belle R. McKee, of Ross township, in a suit on file in common pleas court today against Maurice R. Scharff, receiver for the company.

Plaintiff seeks ejectment of the company from property on Girtys Run road, Ross township, part of the Rosanna Peel estate, on which a section of a brick power building is erected. She alleges the company has no right to the property since it abandoned the line.

Kidnaped Youth Is Safe At Home

St. Paul Young Man Is Released After Being Captive Week

NO INFORMATION ON RANSOM PAYMENT

By H. A. PAUL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 7—With bedraggled clothes and a bewhiskered chin, the only ill effects of his ordeal, Haskell Bohn, 20, was safe at home today after more than six days of captivity in the hands of kidnapers.

Grinning happily over his liberation, the young son of Gebhard C. Bohn, wealthy refrigerator manufacturer, gave a lively narrative of his experiences.

Released Last Night

"They gave me good grub and plenty of cigarettes," he said.

Blindfolded the youth was set loose from an automobile late last night on a lonely road near Lake Minnetonka. Tearing the tape from his eyes he stumbled through the darkness over a wheatfield to a farmer's home.

Whether the demanded $5,000 ransom had been paid to the kidnapers to effect young Bohn's release was not known. Members of the Bohn family refused to confirm or deny the report that the tribute had been paid.

Five In Gang

The Bohn youth said he thought the kidnap band which held him numbered five members.

"After I was seized" he related, "they drove me around for about an hour but first stopped and taped my eyes so I couldn't see where we were going. Then we drove into a garage and after remaining there for three or four hours they led me out and into the basement of a house where I was held for six days.

"They treated me fine. When they took me out last night and told me I was going home they appeared in good spirits. When I was told to get out of the car one of the men gave me $10 for fare and meals and said I was a good sport."

Chicago Gangs In New Warfare

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 7.—A new outbreak of warfare among gambling syndicates was signalized today by the shooting of Arthur Gould, 50, race news publisher, in dense traffic on the North side. Gould was the third victim of gangsters' bullets today.

Gould's automobile was forced to the curb along Sheridan road by a large sedan from which several gunmen fired at the publisher. Gould suffered only a superficial wound.

WHIPPING POST IS REVIVED FOR OHIO JUSTICE

Common Pleas Judge Robert Putnam gave William Wynn, 48, and his brother, Jesse, 51, the choice of the lashing or 20 days at hard labor for stealing a refrigerator.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 7—United States Senator William E. Borah, Rep., of Idaho, was the hero of the prohibition party's national convention here today.

For Senator Borah late last night refused the prohibition party's nomination for president, but indicated he would consider joining a third party movement in which the dry and progressive forces might be united.

More than three-fourths of the national convention delegates had joined in an impressive and colorful demonstration for Senator Borah who was assured of the nomination.

Realizing the situation, leaders at once attempted to get in touch with the Idaho senator to sound his attitude towards accepting the nomination.

Heart Balm Suit Against Aimee's Husband Likely To Reach Jury Friday

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, July 7—After a day of thrills in which Myrtle Hazel swooned and Dave was scolded for carying a fountain pen "tear gas gun" into court, superior judge Roth ordered that all testimony be completed today in order that the $200,000 heartache suiet of Myrtle Hazel Joan St. Pierre against David Hutton, Jr., be given to the jury tomorrow.

A sensation seeking crowd stormed the court room again today as attorneys for Myrtle and for Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton's portly husband promised 'more surprises." Dave had denied Miss St. Pierre's charge that he had betrayed her under promise of marriage.

Miss St. Pierre fainted while Eugene Eben, radio organist was on the stand testifying that the woman registered at a maternity hospital as "Mrs. Eben" was not Miss St. Pierre "but a Hollywood movie actress."

Actress Paid $500

Eben said the actress paid him $500 for use of his name at the hospital.

Dave declared he carried the tear gas "fountain pen" as a protection against gangsters he said had threatened him. He displayed a note he said he had received and which read:

"Lissen, Dave, it won't be long now. Even us guys gives dames a break. Why don't you. Your limp ain't getting you no place. You've got a gat but so have a couple of other guys. You're on the spot, you big egg."

Roosevelt Pleased With Smith's Stand

By RAYMOND I. BORST
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ALBANY, N. Y., July 7.—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt was confident today that his path to the white house lies straight and clear ahead of him.

He believes the last obstacle in that path was removed when former governor Alfred E. Smith announced he would support the Democratic party in the coming presidential election.

The governor did not attempt to conceal the fact that he was elated over Smith's decision not to bolt the party. Next to being nominated for the presidency, nothing has happened in the last week which has pleased Mr. Roosevelt more than Smith's announcement that he would support the party.

"Governor Smith's statement confirms my confidence that he would support the Democratic party," was the only comment Governor Roosevelt would make, but he told friends there never had been any doubt in his mind but what "Al would be regular."

Governor Roosevelt has made it plain he never had any ill feeling toward former Governor Smith. He is confident that by the time the present campaign is in full swing the old friendship between them will be completely restored.

There is every indication that within a short time Governor Roosevelt personally will invite Smith to take the stump this fall in behalf of the Roosevelt-Garner ticket.

STATE SALARIES TO BE REDUCED

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 7.—Under agreement of senate and house leaders no further steps toward restoring appropriations abated because of the Talbot act payments will be made until a definite plan has been accepted and the amounts in each case determined.

The senate in a short session today sent the entire series of appropriation restoration bills back to committee to await such an agreement. Meanwhile, a number of leaders in both houses maintained that their passage is unnecessary because the abatements were made by the governor and the fiscal officers and that it is impossible to reappropriate an appropriation already made.

Reduction Bill Passes

The two salus measures which propose a ten per cent reduction for practically all employes paid from state or county funds were passed on second reading. They will come up for final action next Monday night.

Having advanced the plan for cutting the salaries of other public employes, the senate also reported

MOSCOW, July 7.—Twelve hours overdue at Moscow, Bennett Griffin and James J. Mattern, American round the world fliers, were missing today.

Grave fears were felt for their safety as the hours passed with no word received of their progress since they hopped off from Tempelhof Aerodrome, Berlin, last night after a record breaking flight across the Atlantic.

When they left Berlin, confident they would shatter the globe-girdling record held by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, the airmen estimated they would need seven hours to cover the 990 miles separating Berlin from Moscow. This would have brought them to the Soviet capital by 11 p. m. Wednesday, Eastern Daylight Savings Time.

Two weeks of rigid military camp life will be enjoyed before the outfit returns here. Captain Harvey G. Bintrim commands the organization.

DIRECT RELIEF PLAN BEFORE LEGISLATURE

New Talbot Bill Is Introduced

Would Make Use Of Funds By Economy In Departments

WOULD ALSO USE FEDERAL AID FUND

By WILLIAM B. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, July 7.—Taking the initiative again in a tense situation which developed as the legislature prepared to conclude the second week of the special session, the Talbot-Turner bloc today laid the groundwork for a new drive to align the assembly behind a $24,000,000 measure for direct relief.

Rep. Grover C. Talbot, Delaware, late, late yesterday sponsored the measure which is similar to the $10,000,000 bill he pushed to enactment at the last special session. Observers predicted a short-cut to adjournment if the bloc can repeat its coup of last fall and swing both houses into a united support for the measure.

Leaders Anxious

Alarmed by the bloc's split with the Wade-Sheffer rural group, the failure of harmony signs to put in their appearance and the flood of independent legislation which threatens to embroil both branches in weeks of prolonged debate, legislative leaders anxiously watched developments.

The new Talbot measure provides that the $24,000,000 be given to the various counties and poor districts in the state at the rate of $3,000,000 each month, beginning next month and continuing through March, 1933.

Under its terms the money would be used for the purchase of food, clothing and fuel for the needy. In no case could cash be given to applicants for aid, the bill specifically opposing the "dole."

Government economies would provide $15,000,000 of the sum appropriated, and the other $9,000,000 would come from the $23,000,000 anticipated as Pennsylvania's share in the Federal Aid Bill. The remainder of the latter amount, $14,000,000 would be used for highway construction.

Measure Provides.

As presented to the house the measure provides:

$1,500,000,000 added loaning power for Reconstruction Finance corporation, loans to be made to states, cities, semi-public corporations and private corporations and individuals for undertakings that will provide employment or afford relief.

$300,000,000 to be loaned to states, with 15 per cent limit to any one state. Governor of state can allot portion to municipality and loan can be made direct by Reconstruction Finance corporation on adequate security. Provision for allocation of fund on basis of population eliminated.

$322,000,000 provided for public works. Of this amount $136,000,000 must be spent for road building. Remainder to be spent only if treasury says it can be done without imperilling nation's finance.

from committee and passed on second reading the Mansfield bill which would amend the Edmonds act to reduce by 10 per cent the minimum salary which may be paid to teachers. The cut would be effective until June 30, 1935.

Abolish Institutes

A companion measure, sponsored by Senator Leon C. Prince, Cumberland, which would abolish county teacher institutes also was reported from committee and passed on second reading. Senator Prince estimates the bill would save $1,000,000 a year without detriment to the school system.

Included in the list of bills sent back to committee was the Aron measure which would have made $6,000,000 available for distribution to the poor districts for unemployment relief immediately upon approval.

Two proposed constitutional amendments were advanced for final action on Monday night. The one would permit Pennsylvania to take advantage of the Wagner bill which provides federal loans for states to use in unemployment relief.

Although the Wagner bill has not been agreed upon yet by congress and runs the possibility of a presidential veto, the legislators want to be in position to take advantage of any funds which might be made available to the states.

The other proposed amendment passed would permit a $25,000,000 bond issue to help meet the expenses of the state government should present business conditions continue.

The Salus measures which would permit municipal subdivisions to make temporary loans for unemployment relief was listed for final passage but was not acted upon.

Senator Richard Williamson, Huntingdon, introduced a measure which proposes to lift the burden of local taxation for street improvements and maintenance.

The Richardson bill would transfer $30,000,000 from the general to the highway fund to be used exclusively for streets of cities, towns, boroughs and townships. Williamson believes that such a plan not only would reduce local taxation but would make unemployment relief work possible in every municipal subdivision.

Under the bill's provisions $10,000,000 would be allocated to Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Scranton; $5,000,000 to third class cities $5,000,000 to boroughs, towns and first class townships and the remaining $10,000,000 to second class townships. Individual allocations to each unit would be determined by the total mileage of streets for which it is responsible in ratio to the total for the entire state.

CLEVELAND, July 7.—Murder charges were expected to be filed today against Peter Christos, 50, Cleveland dishwasher, in connection with the death of his reputed sweetheart, Miss Margaret Rurska, 21, McKeesport, Pa., whose bullet-riddled body was found in an East Side "love nest."

Identification of the girl was established after police found a letter from the victim's mother, Mrs. Julia Rurska, of 623 White Street, McKeesport, at her apartment. The letter, which arrived while the girl was lying on a slab in the county morgue, contained a money order for $5 and implored her to return home.

Christos, according to detectives, admitted after a lengthy questioning that he had fired two of the six bullets which had entered the girl's body, during a quarrel. The other four, he said, had been self-inflicted in a suicide attempt.

Hard Times Tough On Undertakers

DAVENPORT, Ia., July 7—People are healthier during a depression, a report before the district convention of the National Selected Morticians here said, and as a result there is a slump in the funeral business.

People live more sanely, eat plainer food, drink less intoxicants, and go to bed earlier, the speaker said.

Cap Industry Is Booming Ahead

Plan To "White Cap Depression" And Put Hundreds Back To Work

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 7.—"Cap" the depression and revive employment today was the New York motto.

Two unemployed youths who saw a chance to earn a few cents ordered a few dozen white duck caps and peddled them on the streets for 25 cents each.

The white caps almost overnight became a fad. Manufacturers sensing the demand started up their factories. The boom sent production soaring from a hundred dozen to 6,000 dozen daily.

More than 700 workers were called in the reopened plants. About 2,000 men who previously vended apples on street corners or were entirely without work today offered their bargain through the city streets.

Philadelphia and Chicago cap manufacturers investigated the boom and were reported ready to begin the task of making their cities white cap conscious.

AMERICAN FLIERS ARE LONG OVERDUE ON MOSCOW 'HOP' ing and speed straight as an arrow from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, to Berlin. Russian airmen and aviation officials were reticent to believe that tragedy had ended their daring venture.

For a long time, hopes were held out that the Americans, determined to circle the earth in six days or less, might have decided to skip over Moscow and continue direct toward Omsk, Siberia, nearly 1,500 miles east of Moscow.

Little Fuel

It was doubtful whether the 300 gallons of gasoline and 30 gallons of oil they took on at Berlin would be sufficient for this long jump, but it was felt the fliers might have gone on until their fuel was exhausted and then landed at the first suitable place.

But there was no word of any such landing. The air route between Moscow and Omsk is dotted by a number of fueling stations, landing fields and municipalities, and it was difficult to understand why they had not been sighted.

The fact that no one saw or heard the plane from the time it left Berlin last night added to the anxiety, but Soviet officials still held out hope that they might have come down in some isolated spot, a long distance from means of communication, and that word of their safety might come through in a few hours.

WARSAW, July 7.— Polish air stations have heard nothing of the American flyers, Mattern and Griffin, unreported on their flight from Berlin to Moscow, the goverfnment announced today after a careful check.

BERLIN, July 7.—The American round-the-world aviators, James J. Mattern and Bennett Griffin, were not sighted at any German airport after their departure from Berlin last night for Moscow, a check-up from all sources disclosed today.

THE ERA OF TWELVE YEARS AGO

IN HIS keynote address at the Democratic National Convention the other day, Senator Barkley, of Kentucky, temporary chairman of the convention, reminded us that "twelve years ago we were drawing to the close of a great era." The era referred to was, of course, the great World War with, as the keynoter reminded us, "humanity's greatest expenditure of accumulated treasure."

There can be no gainsaying the fact that it was one of the world's greatest eras so far as its effect on the course of the world was concerned. We were told at the time that it was the era in which would be completed the war which was to end war for all time to come, that the titanic struggle would "make the world safe for democracy."

Just how true those slogans were, the country is now well aware. Since the close of the war democracy in many instances has been eliminated. Three great dictators have arisen, Mussolini in Italy, Stalin in Soviet Russia, and Pilsudski in Poland, and there have been a number of lesser ones. And if we can read the signs aright, more dictatorships are to follow in the near future, the most important one, imminent perhaps, in Germany.

Nor did the war to end all wars succeed in its purpose. We have had continual strife, both of a military and political nature, since the treaty of peace was signed. There have been revolutions on every hand, and the great nations of the world are now more heavily armed than at any time in their history.

Twelve years after the close of the era to which the Democratic keynoter referred we find the nations of the world in the grip of the greatest depression of the century, a depression due directly to the inflation which had its seeds in the era which saw "humanity's greatest expenditure of accumulated treasure."

We see now the great nations of Europe represented at Lausanne demanding on the one hand the cancellation of reparations growing out of the war, and on the other demanding that Uncle Sam forgive the debts of the allied nations. And we hear in America the cry go up from the overburdened taxpayers that it is unfair to cancel these European debts and so add further to the troubles of the American citizenry.

Despite Senator Barkley's reference to the great era which ended with the closing days of the Wilson administration it is not likely that this era will be made an issue in the coming campaign. Doubtless the Republicans, remembering the results of the election of 1920 would welcome such an issue. It would give them the opportunity of reminding the voters that the seeds of the depression were sown in this era which ended twelve years ago, that the vast sums the payment of which European nations are now seeking to avoid, were loaned to Europe during this era, and that the results of government control of the railroads, the telephone, the telegraph and other great utilities, left a bad taste in the mouths of the American people which it took several years to eradicate.

RECONSTRUCTION FINANCE CORPORATION

Political opponents of Mr. Hoover complain from time to time that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation was meant only to assist railroads, banks and the big fellows generally, without any benefit to the "forgotten man."

Cincinnatians have an opportunity just now to judge at close range of the truth or falsity of this criticism.

A loan of between ten and eleven millions is about to be made to the Terminal Company by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Twenty-nine millions have already been spent on the new Terminal. It is a thoroughly sound project, in anything like normal times, no one would suggest any difficulty in financing it.

But, as we all know, these are abnormal times. If help could not be obtained from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, work on the new Terminal would come to an abrupt stop. That would be disappointing to Cincinnati and wasteful to the railroads. Worse than that, it would mean the loss of jobs to a great number of Cincinnati workers and the stoppage of that flow of new money into the Terminal project which has done more than most of us realize to maintain better conditions in Cincinnati than obtain in many other American cities.

The Terminal Company has been spending about a million dollars a month in Cincinnati. First or last, practically all this money goes to labor. It goes directly to men working on the job and only a little less directly to a much larger number engaged in the preparation and manufacture of materials off the job, from truck drivers in Cincinnati to workers in the steel plants and the stone quarries.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation was instituted to prevent a threatened breakdown in credit. Its purpose is to keep sound enterprises going. How much this means to all sorts of people is shown in the present situation at the Terminal. In addition to five or six thousand men who have worked on Terminal materials, there are fifteen hundred men on the direct payroll. The wages of these men work back through the Cincinnati stores into all forms of industry which, in turn, provide employment for other workers and help to keep the great industrial machine working. Some of the money goes into Cincinnati rents which, in turn, go into Cincinnati taxes. Without real estates taxes, local government can not be financed, and policemen, firemen, school teachers, city and county workers can not be paid.

All sorts of Americans are profiting through the operations of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Those who deny this are either demagogs or persons who talk without using their minds at all.—The Cincinnati Times-Star.

Answer Me These Questions About Charivaris, Pretty Girls And Wishing Stones

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Do they still have "charivaris" in all the little towns? When the bride and groom come home from the honeymoon, do all the small boys gather tin cans and horns and whistles and creep up on the house in the dark of the night—and beat the tin cans and blow their horns and ring the doorbell and rattle sticks across the picket fence until the groom comes out and says, "Hello, boys!" (mad as the dickens, but smiling) and gives them all the small change he has in his pockets? . . . Do they? Do they, huh? . . . If they don't have 'charivaris" any more, then something has gone out of small town life . . . I'm not saying they were good, I'm not saying they were bad, I'm just wondering if they have them any more.

How do you describe people you don't like? What words do you use? One man I know refers to anyone who is offensive to him as 'an unpleasant type." He uses that as a substitue for blistering profanity. Another friend dismisses a rascal with the remark that he is a "bad chemical mixture." That's the worst he can say about anybody . . . Their expressions are an improvement on conventional profanity because they can use them anywhere . . . Mild words can mean terrible things.

Is it one of the minor sins for a man to turn his head and stare when an extremely pretty young woman passes by? I'll deny it stoutly and defend any man who is criticised for doing it . . . Beauty has passed by. In a smile. In a tilt of the head. With a swift step. With an air . . . That's Life went by that instant, and why shouldn't a man turn his head and stare a little? . . . It's not so much. He's almost forgotten her before she's rounded the nearest corner and will never think of her again. . . . Why shouldn't he look? . . . W h o calls him a sinner has a lean and meager heart and little blood in his veins.

* * *

Have you ever wished, as you wished when young, that some day you might come across a Wishing Stone? A dull, neglected stone in some rubbish heap, thrown away by those who did not recognize it for what it was. But a magic stone nevertheless, which you might pick up and rub and through it make all your wishes come true . . Have you ever wished for a Wishing Stone and spent a few minutes thinking of the treasures you'd desire in such a case? . . . . You have? Then you're just a child, that's what you are . . . Just a child, and you'll probably never grow up. Just a child, and not like truly mature men and women who are always willing to WORK for the things they desire . . . Just a child and I envy you.

JANET AND I DISCUSS SPELLING

You find it difficult to spell
Such simple words as "their" and "prey",
Yet what of little girls who dwell
In Wales three thousand miles away?
If you think English hard to learn
Filled full of words to plague and tease,
The pages of your atlas turn
And gaze upon such words as these:
Eglwyswrw,
Tanyreglwys.

Pale women faint and fighters strong
Will feint at times, deceiving foes,
And little children will go wrong,
As every worried teacher knows.
But, troubled Janet, at the board
Remember when a word you miss,
If you were asked to spell out "ford",
In Wales a ford is known as this:
Rhydyfuwch.

You think your spelling lessons hard,
But buckle to them with a will.
You'll learn that soldiers stand on "guard"
And properly to spell "fulfill".
But if at times your memory fails,
Think what a happier fate you own
Than all the little girls in Wales,
Who have to answer this for "stone":
Llechyrd.

If now you choose the trail of Right,

Monroe Doctrine For Japan Stirs American Criticism

Press Points Out That Principles Applied To This Continent Are Defensive And Not Intended To Increase Power Of Nation

Remarks made by Viscount Ishii of Japan at a dinner given in Tokyo in honor of America's new ambassador to that country, Joseph C. Grew, have astonished the world and the attitude revealed in them toward the United States is examined with special attention by the press of this country.

"The Viscount is quoted as saying that armed conflict between the United States and Japan could happen only in two improbable contingencies," relates the NEW YORK SUN, these being "if Japan attempted to interfere unduly in the western hemisphere and if the United States attempted to become dominant in Asia or sought to prevent Japan 'from her pacific and natural expansion in this part of the world.'" The Sun replies to the Viscount by saying: "The American policy of the Open Door is well known to Viscount Ishii as being a disclaimer of any intention on the part of the United States to seek dominant influence in China as well as a declaration of American policy in opposition to domination there by any other non-Chinese power. The traditional friendship of the United States and Japan has survived differences of opinion before and will survive them again," concludes The Sun.

Analyzing the remarks of the Japanese statesman, who is a former ambassador to this country, the BIRMINGHAM AGE-HERALD says: "Japan claims for itself as to the Orient what the United States claims, under the Monroe Doctrine, with respect to the Americas. But why does this warning go out specifically to the United States?" asks this paper. "To be sure," it continues, "we have been very zealous in seeking to curb Japanese imperialism. But whatever this country has done has had the confirmation of the League of Nations. Geneva has spoken as positively as has Washington with respect to recent happenings in Manchuria and China. The whole world is committed to the proposition of preserving the territorial integrity and political independence of China," argues this journal. But the TORONTO DAILY STAR, commenting on the incident, recalls that "Japan warned the League of Nations a week or so ago that she might withdraw from the league if any attempt were made to interfere with her freedom of action in Manchuria. Thus Japan plainly has declared that she will not be swayed from her imperialistic policies in Manchuria either by organized world society or the great North American republic," notes this paper.

That the comparison of Japan's stand to that of the United States in the Monroe Doctrine is an incorrect one is pointed out in several quarters. On this question, the HARTFORD DAILY TIMES remarks: "No comparison could be less just. The Monroe Doctrine was not a declaration asserting the right of the United States to expand in the Americas. Itw as a declaration of self-defense and of the defense of infant republics on two continents, in the western hemisphere, against interference from Europe. It is a new Japan which speaks today from the posture of saber-rattling and espousal of imperialistic policies responsible for the spirit of the truculent address of Viscount Ishii," claims this paper, as it states with positiveness. "That the United States would sign a blanket endorsement that any nation anywhere may claim the free privilege of expanding to the outrage and destruction of others scarcely could be reasonable and the thought of Japan cannot contemplate any such thing." The NASHVILLE BANNER also discusses the Monroe Doctrine, saying: "The United States has set up a plan that warns other nations of the world off any interference in the Americas, and its application of the principle has not always been purely altruistic, perhaps, but it has yet to make a Shanghai gesture or one anywhere near like it." The CLEVELAND NEWS thinks that Japan "will have a sizable job on her hands in enforcing her decision, should the other nations object." The BOSTON TRANSCRIPT points out that the "United States, while maintaining the Monroe Doctrine, does not claim the right to annex Mexico or Central America or any part of them."

Ambassador Grew is being complimented on every side for the restraint and wisdom of his impromptu reply to the Viscount's unexpected pronouncement, so unusual for a ceremonial dinner of the nature of the one at which this unforeseen incident occurred. Said Ambassador Grew, as quoted by the INDIANAPOLIS NEWS: "'The desire to uphold and strengthen the structure of peace constitutes the principal interest of the United States in world affairs.' Frankness and adequate regard for the rights of all were urged as necessary for a constructive approach to a solution of the issues." The News comments further that "there is no American desire to interfere with Japan's growth in the Orient; the concern, shared by outside governments in general, is solely that the open door for every country be preserved and that force be avoided."

Naturally the world realizes that Japan has a large population, crowded into a comparatively small area. The ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION describes the situation as "a population of 60,000,000 on a group of islands having about the area of the single state of California," and declares "it is clear that Japan is badly crowded, and that its home territory lacks the natural resources to afford a secure base for expansion of industry." But, continues this paper, "it is not as clear where the Japanese can or will go." Claiming that "Japan has a right to feel uneasy," the DANBURY EVENING NEWS says: "Mistakenly or not, the United States is an Asiatic power. Its possessions and territories constitute stepping stones across the Pacific—the Hawaiian group, the Midway Islands, Samoa, Guam, the Philippines. It rules over some 14,000,000 yellow and brown people, ranging from primitive savages to Mohammedan princelings," and "Japan seeks this living arm stretching forth from continental United States right up to its own back door, where it ends purposely."

The CHARLESTON DAILY MAIL considers that "in the light of the present situation, the Viscount might have done his country a greater service by withholding his warning as well as by refraining from emphasizing Japan's need for expansion. His comment on both subjects supplies ammunition to jingoeists, and is not calculated to do the cause of peace any good," claims this paper.

Declaring that "it is entirely patent that the island empire desires to dominate conditions in Asia," the DESERET NEWS of SALT LAKE CITY remarks: "As long as her growth is a natural expansion and pacific, the world cannot object. We fear, however, that Japan will spell 'pacific with a capital and make it refer to geography rather than behavior." The COLUMBIA (S. C.) STATE is rather of the opinion that "a good workable 'Monroe Doctrine' for Japan and Asia might prove a solution of many of the problems that trouble and imperil the liberties and progress of countless millions in that vast region." The ESCANABA DAILY PRESS is of the opinion that "Japan's pride received a severe jolt in the sorry mess its army made of the invasion of China, and now it is trying to convince the world that it is still a nation to be feared by all others."

As a boy the Poet Tennyson had been brought up by a severe aunt who belonged to the Calvanistic form of faith. This aunt would sit and weep for hours because she felt that God had been so infinitely good to her.

"Has he not damned most of my friends?" she would cry. "But me, me, He has picked out for eternal salvation, me who am no better than my neighbors."

HAPPINESS

Perhaps the one you married has not come up to your expectations.

You may have discovered traits you did not know existed.

You expected the one you married to make you entirely happy and you expected too much because happiness is never perfect.

You know that you yourself have many unfavorable characteristics, but you tried to keep them hidden till after the knot was tied, anyway.

Have you any reason for thinking that you are any the less a disappointment to the person who took you as a companion?

There is plenty of meanness in all—you confess you are not exempt. Still you sometimes wonder if you would not have been happier if you had married a different sort of person.

Perhaps your life might have been far more unhappy.

If you and your life partner enjoy each other's companionship, you are getting along as well as the majority of couples.

To expect more than you are willing to give is fatal to happiness.

If conditions are not congenial you may be the one to blame.

Happiness is largely a matter of disposition, so cultivate a sweet temper or at least an even, kindly one.

Plan Inquiry In Shooting Of Cubs Baseball Player

Jealousy and Unrequited Love Held Responsible For Near Tragedy In Chicago

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 7.—Jealousy and unrequited love, authorities believed today, were the motivating forces behind the shooting of William "Bill" Jurges, star shortstop of the Chicago Cubs, by Violet Vallie, 21-year-old showgirl.

While both principals in this drama of an adoring girl spurned by her baseball hero were in a hospital, Captain Dennis Malloy, directing the injuiry, announced he will file charges accusing Miss Valli of assault with intent to kill.

Suicide Note Found

Jurges, however, flatly refused to aid in the prosecution of Miss Valli. He expressed extreme solicitude over the condition of his fair assailant.

The keystone of the police theory that the girl planned to kill the ball player and then take her own life rested in a note found in her room shortly after the shooting episode.

The note, addressed to Michael, a brother, said, in part:

"To me life without Billy isn't worth living, but why should I leave this earth alone? I'm going to take Billy with me."

Get Your Money Back

"Bi-carb" and milk of magnesia only make your indigestion worse in most cases, for they weaken the digestive acid in your stomach, so it cannot digest your food properly.

Pepto-Bismol does not upset your stomach. It relieves indigestion gently in a few minutes by stopping the souring of food in your stomach and the decay of food in your bowels. The medicines in Pepto-Bismol which stop souring and decay, are four of the finest medicines known to physicians. Read them on the bottle.

Also, Pepto-Bismol is not a patent medicine. It is a prescription by The Norwich Pharmacal Company, whose Unguentine and other fine medicines have held the respect of physicians, surgeons, hospitals, nurses and druggists for nearly 50 years.

If Pepto-Bismol does not get rid of your indigestion, distress after eating, heartburn and sour, acid stomach, in a few minutes, get your money back from your druggist. Delicious Pepto-Bismol is harmless. Price 50c.

But don't be absent-minded and merely ask your druggist for "something for indigestion". Ask him for Pepto-Bismol by name. Look for the name Pepto-Bismol on the bottle. Refuse the unfair offer of "something just as good" which may hinder, instead of help your digestion. Ask for Pepto-Bismol by name and get what you ask for.

"We've spilled the beans" in the smoker's interest

DO you inhale? "You've spilled the beans!" said the cigarette trade when first we asked this simple question—a question which long had been treated with silence that would "shame a Sphinx!"

Why? Wasn't the subject vital enough to pursue? Or, was there a hidden reason for the general avoidance of the question by others?

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has chosen to raise this question . . . because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? Of course you do—and so, in the smoker's interest, Luckies have not feared to "spill the beans."

An Exceptional Opportunity for a Successful Man

One of the large life insurance companies, with offices established in New Castle for twenty years, and with millions of dollars of insurance in force in this city, with hundreds of policyholders in New Castle and surrounding territory, desires a better than average man to take charge of the New Castle territory. This is an opportunity for a real high grade man to step into a developed business.

No previous life insurance or selling experience is required, provided you are capable of handling a bigger job than you now have, want a more important place in your community, and desire a better-than-average measure of success.

If you are the right man, the company will invest time and money to establish you in the business. It will carefully train you for your work in a Training School having an enviable reputation for developing men. You will also be assisted in your work by a capable supervision, efficient service and national advertising. But you MUST be a man of character and integrity, able to furnish the very best of references, energetic, alert and progressive.

The business of life insurance offers unusually stable and permanent employment. It is practically free from fluctuations which affect other businesses. The method of compensation itself acts as an income stabilizer and a guarantee of a yearly increase. In other words, your income will be limited only by your own ability and industry. It is determined automatically and impartially by what you accomplish.

If you feel that you can meet our qualifications and are between 28 and 45, preferably married, write us at once in strict confidence, giving full particulars about yourself. Should your letter indicate that a personal conference would be mutually beneficial, an appointment will be arranged.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Curtis And Garner To Do "Heavy Work" In Coming Campaign

Despite Advancing Years Vice- Presidential Candidates Are Vigorous

Garner Will Stump South And West, Curtis Maps Out His Program

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Two rugged vice presidential candidates who scoff at advancing years today were slated to wage a barnstorming duel in the Democratic and Republican battles to capture the West.

Both vice-president "Charley" Curtis and Speaker "Cactus Jack" Garner, nominees of their parties for second place on the national ticket, are being counted on by political pilots to do much of the heavy work of the campaign.

While Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt will make several trips from Albany, and President Hoover plans a few speeches in large cities, Curtis and Garner are expected to travel both the highways and the byways.

"I expect to do a lot of campaigning this fall," said Vice-President Curtis. "I will be glad to meet Mr. Garner on the stump."

The Speaker kept his own counsel on campaign plans until congress adjourns, when he expects to go to his ranch home near Ulvalde, Tex., for some much needed rest.

Speeches In South

National Chairman James A. Farley, it is known, expects to persuade the Speaker to make many speeches in the South and West. Both the vice-presidential candidates probably will appear in the East and West.

Each of the vice-presidential candidates has his own peculiar and forceful method of campaigning in the hustings. Each is vigorous despite his years.

Vice-President Curtis has passed his 72nd birthday and Garner has left his 63rd behind.

The first county-wide meeting will take place July 22. The six granges on the western side of the county will meet at Westfield and those on the eastern side will gather for an evening of entertainment at Willard grange hall. The committee in charge promises a full evening of entertainment for all young patrons of husbandry.

Looking Up Data On Old Cemetery

Register Of Graves Thomas Edmunds Would Have Deer Creek Modernized

Register of Graves, Thomas Edmunds, is looking up data relative to the old Deer Creek cemetery at New Bedford, with a view to taking some steps toward having the cemetery placed in presentable shape.

The cemetery, which is one of the oldest in the county, is connected with the Deer Creek United Presbyterian church. It is one of the historical points of interest in Lawrence county owing to the fact that several soldiers of the Revolutionary War, and the war of 1812, as well as the Civil War, are buried there.

The cemetery is overgrown with briars and brush to such an extent, that it is little better than a thicket. In many places the tombstones are covered by the dense growth. Some of the ancient tombstones have toppled over, others are leaning.

Antiquity of the cemetery is shown by some of the dates on the headstones. There is one which shows that the interment was made in 1811. There are others on which the elements have completely erased the names chiseled on the face. There are several showing burials in 1812.

The cemetery was brought into prominence recently by exercises held by the Daughters of the American Revolution, at the McGuffey graves.

One of the monuments which is quite well preserved, marks the resting place of Alex Neal, who was a fifer in Commodore Perry's fleet in the war of 1812.

To those interested in historical places a trip to the Deer Creek cemetery is well worth the time spent. To reach it turn to the right at the gas station in New Bedford after passing the Presbyterian church, go about one half mile, turn to the right again and the cemetery is but a few hundred yards down the road.

Socialists End State Meeting

Adopt Platform Urging Collective Ownership Of Industries

Reporting 102 branches, county organization in twenty-two counties activity in thirty-two, nearly two hundred legislative candidates and a full ticket for state-wide offices, the Socialist party of Pennsylvania represented by 150 delegates closed a three day state convention at Reading, Penna., on July 4th, Carl Leathers, local delegate, stated today.

The state platform adopted called for the Socialist program of collective ownership of monopolistic industries and immediate measures of unemployment relief, unemployment insurance, old age pensions, the thirty-hour week, immediate public control and ownership of electric, gas, water and transport utilities, moratorium on rent, taxes and interest for unemployed workers and farmers selling products below cost of production.

The convention voted to organize producers leagues among the unemployed to administer their own relief and use idle lands and shops to produce goods for use. A new constitution was adopted giving the party organization wide powers over elected officials to compel observance of platform.

State Funds Short For Road Building

County Commissioners Get Letter From Highway Commissioner Lewis

In answer to a letter by the County Commissioners relative to the improvement of the Coaltown-New Wilmington, and the Pulaski-New Bedford roads, State Highway Commissioner Samuel Lewis, says that he does not have the funds in sight to take up the improvement at present, but may do so later on. The commissioners recently wrote that the county is ready to go ahead with the improvement and pay one half the cost.

Both roads are needing attention at present, particularly the Pulaski-New Bedford road, which is very stoney in spots. The road has been ashed, but is full of little ridges, which make travel slow and is hard on cars. These little ridges are a characteristic of cinder and gravelled roads. About the only way they can be eliminated is by regular scraping and rolling.

The question, when is a champion not a champion seems to have been answered conclusively.—The Roanoke Times.

STALE GAS IS FEEBLE---fresh GAS PACKS POWER

YOU KNOW that gasoline evaporates. But have you ever thought what that means? It means that, little by little, the "light ends"—the "easy starting" elements—drift off into thin air.

And as gas gets stale, a chemical change takes place—and hence the longer gas is stored, the weaker it gets. The less power it gives you. And it gets stickier, too. More apt to foul valves and carbureter. More apt to knock on the hills.

The whole petroleum industry has long known these facts. Gulf has long studied the problem—and now announces a system that assures the motorist of getting FRESH, FULL-POWERED gasoline!

First, by giving you the best gasoline that can be made—by so refining this gas that the elements that cause rapid deterioration are eliminated. Which means that Gulf gas stays FRESH longer.

Second, by getting this NEW-MADE gas to you in a hurry.

From refinery to pump, the Gulf distribution system is geared up to high speed. Gulf has carefully placed its many huge refineries in many sections of the country—so that a stream of FRESH gas can easily be kept flowing to every one of the 45,000 Gulf stations.

A tremendous fleet of fast trucks rushes FRESH gas to Gulf pumps every day in the year.

Only FRESH gasoline packs full power. Get all the power you pay for. Get gas that's FRESH-MADE—and that is delivered FRESH. Get Gulf—exclusively. You'll have a livelier motor. A quieter motor. A faster motor.

Landscaping Of College Campus Is Considered

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., July 7.—Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, president of Westminster College, announces that artists have been figuring on the future landscaping of the Westminster campus during the last two weeks. No immediate activity in this direction is contemplated, except the grading and seeding of the south campus, now under way, but definite plans are being made for the near future.

As plans are now outlined, the final landscaping will provide for a small lake near the gymnasium, an arboreum, a center flower bed in the quadrangle, and a quarter mile cinder track around the football field.

Under direction of Baldwin Sears, business manager considerable grading has been done near the gymnasium this summer. A new road, leading from Market street to the gymnasium, has been started. Under direction of George Anderson, the football playing field has been raked and graded and planted with stadium grass mixture. A sprinkler system has been installed on the football field.

With improvements being made on the Hillside and in Browne hall, there is plenty of activity on the college campus.

Send Letters To 1,500 Alumnae Of Westminster

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., July 7.—Letters were sent this week to 1,500 alumnae and former students of Westminster College by Mrs. Jane Douthett Reed, Mercer, general chairman of the Hillside Renovation and Improvement committee.

Letters went to former residents of the Hillside, calling upon the women graduates to assist the committee in its plan to alter both the interior and the exterior of the old dormitory. Painting, decorating, and altering will be started within the next few weeks, and new furniture will be installed if the plans of the committee work out.

Dr. R. F. Galbreath, president, states that the committee of women, after inspecting the Hillside, decided that many needed improvements could be made at this time. This group of women is now enlisting the support of all former residents of the building in project.

Among other things planned by the committee is a guest chamber to welcome alumnae at all times to the Hillside. Changes in the dining room, reception room and parlor, and in dormitory quarters are also planned.

Would Abandon Wheatland And Middlesex Line

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 7.—Asserting the contemplated move would save his company $11,000 in transportation costs, H. N. Muldoon, superintendent of the Pennsylvania and Ohio Power Company and its subsidiary, the Shenango Valley Traction Company, testified in support of the latter company's application for the abandonment of service between Wheatland and West Middlesex, Mercer county, in a Public Service Commission hearing Wednesday.

The reaction of the borough of West Middlesex to the proposed abandonment of the 2.77-mile line connecting them with Wheatland was evidenced by the presence of counsel for them at the hearing before Commissioner Walker. Their protest alleged the saving claimed by the applicants did not justify discontinuance of the line.

Muldoon testified his company would save approximately $3600 per year in power, $780 in maintenance costs, and $2600 in removal of the one car used on the line, which would be scrapped.

The borough was represented at the hearing by C. N. Ellison, tax collector of West Middlesex.

Hero Wins Medal For Saving Driver

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Mass., July 7.—Three medals for heroism and an award of $250 was the reward of James J. Geagan, young conduit worker for a telephone company, for his act of rescuing a diver, who while working in a channel behind the North Station, sank to the bottom without air with the glass in his headpiece broken. Geagan was given the National Silver Vail Medal, a silver medal from the Massachusetts Human society and the President's Medal of the National Safety Council.

Experts wonder how the word "yeomen" originated. Probably an old-time second lieutenant enjoyed addressing his doughboys as "you men."

Beatrice Vare To Wed Young Doctor

Personal Physician To Former Senator Vare Will Wed Philadelphia Girl

PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—The engagement of Miss Beatrice Vare, daughter of former Sen. William S. Vare, and Dr. John J. Shaw, her father's personal physician, and long a close friend of the family, had been revealed today.

The two will be married early in August at a quiet ceremony at Atlantic City, followed by a short honeymoon. The couple will reside in Philadelphia.

The romance had its beginning in 1928 when Dr. Shaw was associated with Dr. Ellwood R. Kirby during Vare's illness. Dr. Shaw stayed at the Vare home during most of the period.

When Vare recovered, the young couple were seen together frequently and it was rumored that they were secretly engaged. However, there was no announcement until yesterday.

Rheumatism

Now A Lively, Spirited Woman Happy, Cheerful and Gay

What A Victory For HER—and For Allenru

It's the bright woman who never gives up—she makes up her mind that rheumatic pain and agony isn't going to cause her a lifetime of misery and unhappiness.

Blessed with common sense, this woman didn't waste but little time fooling with makeshift remedies which bring relief; to be sure—but still keep you a prisoner in the old arm chair—what foolishness.

Clever: this woman was—she learned that uric acid is a poison—that it settles deep in joints and muscles—she learned that these vicious deep seated deposits were the cause of her rheumatic agony and she found something—

TO REMOVE THE CAUSE

She read about Allenru in the newspaper—This quick acting prescription she learned was guaranteed to start uric acid poison leaving the body in 24 hours—her hope increased as she read further that Allenru would cause pain, agony, distress and swelling to leave in 48 hours—

Keen minded she was—she knew that Allenru was the remedy she wanted and she purchased one 85 cent bottle—her story ends here.

When poisonous uric acid left her joints and muscles she was happy once more—lively, active, cheerful again.

Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., dispenses Allenru—so do leading druggists everywhere.

Motorists who look for trouble-free tire service, and expect to get it at the lowest cost for miles of service, are turning now to ALLSTATE, the tire that has proved its right to rank the field. Prof. Phil C. Huntly, a truth-seeking scientist from the Armour Institute of Technology, supervised a test of more than 2,000,000 tire miles. ALLSTATE, along with 6 other leading brands, was put through the paces over every kind of a road . . . from Ohio to Arizona. Day and night the test cars whizzed along, at 50 miles an hour running speed, 24 hours a day. Tires were rotated on wheels and air pressures were checked at periodic intervals.

And, after more than 7 months of this terrific, gruelling service, final figures were computed. It was then found that ALLSTATE Tires had a far greater average of total mileage than any other. It was proved that ALLSTATE delivers far more miles-per-dollar than any of the nationally advertised competitors.

ALLSTATE was not only equal to or better in quality than any other leading tire tested, regardless of price, but it also delivered 63% more mileage-per-dollar!

NOW, today, at Sears Roebuck and Co., you'll find this great tire, victor in the 2,000,000 tire mile test, at the lowest prices ever quoted by Sears for its quality. These prices, you must remember, are TAX FREE . . . they do NOT include the government tax. And they're effective so long as present quantities last. Better hurry in for yours!

Robert Bishop Is Enjoying Life In United States Navy

Writes Interesting Letter To Chief Boatswain's Mate Allison

Chief Boatswain's Mate F. R. Allison, officer in charge of the United States Navy Recruiting station here, is in receipt of a very interesting letter from Robert Bishop, who enlisted through the local station. Bishop, who is now Boatswain fifth class on the U. S. S. Detroit, is getting along fine and enjoying life in the navy. It is stationed in the Pacific near San Diego, Cal.

His letter follows:—"Hello:—How is the recruiting trade. I don't suppose you have to shanghai them yet, do you. Is my name still on the waiting list? How is Mr. Dunlap and Mr. Genkinger? Tell them I said hello, will you please.

"Whatever happened to Mr. Brown. He was not there when I was home on leave. Well, they are getting the big navy football team under way now. Say by the way did you ever serve under these men, Rear Admiral Kalifus, Captain Post or Lieutenant McManus?

"McManus is our division officer and a swell fellow. At the present time I am out in the motor launch as coxswain. Getting up in the navy, am I not?

"I was put on the report the other day for climbing up on the main mast, but I got out of it with just a warning (that is what I mean when I say getting up in the navy). What did you think of the fight the other night. It sure was a wow. (Sharkey I hear is an ex-gob). I bet he was a boat's swain's mate. If this next presidential election does not come off as these Sharkey people expect they will be putting him in office, claiming that he won by a wick margin.

This navy must be doing me good. I gained 42 pounds since December. Maybe it is because I got out of that city of New Castle. Is Fred Rentz still walking around talking about what this world needs? And by the way is that monument still standing on the diamond or has it died of starvation from the depression.

"Well I guess I will close and go up to the gear locker and look for mail but I guess there will not be any from New Castle, I heard that the P. O. run out of stamps. Eee Gates or what ever that Greek word means, So long.

BOB BISHOP.

P. S.—Say hello to Sergeant J. W. Thompson.

SEVENTY-FIVE SCIENTIFIC TESTS PROVE OLD GOLD COOLEST SMOKE

LABORATORY CHECK PLACES O. G. FIRST, EASIEST ON THROAT

"O. G.'s Finer Tobacco and its Freedom from Added Flavorings Make it a Definitely Cooler Cigarette," say Noted Authorities

"Conclusive evidence that Old Gold gives a cooler smoke . . . cooler than any of the three other leading cigarette brands . . . has been obtained through the most accurate heat-testing method known to Science," it has been announced by the New York Testing Laboratories.

"Seventy-five repeated tests of the four big brands confirmed this finding," G. Brinton Jack, Jr., Director of the Laboratories, asserted. Mr. Jack emphatically stated that the tests were initiated by the Laboratories solely as a matter of scientific research, and entirely without the participation of cigarette manufacturers.

"Accurate temperature records made of the smoke of each of the four cigarettes completed the proof that Old Gold is definitely cooler than the other brands," Mr. Jack asserted.

"It is not our province in this report to speculate on the reasons for Old Gold's cooler smoking qualities," Mr. Jack stated. "But we are told that Old Gold is a cigarette of the finest and purest tobacco quality . . . without artificial flavoring. This alone might well account for its coolness and mildness, since low grade tobacco, or tobacco containing oily flavorings, has a tendency to burn into hot and irritating fumes." He continued:

"These tests required eight months to complete. We purchased hundreds of cartons of the four leading brands through regular retail channels, and each brand was represented in each of the 75 tests. We employed the Oxygen Bomb Calorimeter, recognized by scientists throughout the world as the most accurate method of measuring the heat given off in the combustion of any organic substance."

Scientists of Two Leading Universities Check Tests That Prove Old Gold Best

Scientists of two leading Universities have checked the tests described on this page and their findings corroborated in every detail those of the New York Testing Laboratories.

Samples of each lot of cigarettes tested have been sealed in airtight bottles:

1. For scientists who may wish to check the tests.
2. To refer to in later years to see what effect the tests have had in improving other brands up to the Old Gold pure tobacco standard.

To any scientific or technical authority, the signed report of these two scientists will be sent on application to P. Lorillard Company, Inc., 119 West 40th St., New York City.

THE EVIDENCE OF SCIENCE

"This is to certify that in 75 repeated cool tests made of the 4 leading cigarette brands . . . measuring the heat content of each cigarette in B.T.Us. with the Oxygen Bomb Calorimeter, it was shown that:

Old Gold averages 112 B.T.Us. Cooler than Brand X
Old Gold averages 155 B.T.Us. Cooler than Brand Y
Old Gold averages 156 B.T.Us. Cooler than Brand Z

"To further verify Old Gold's coolness, the temperature (Fahrenheit) of the smoke of each cigarette brand was checked and Old Gold's smoke was found to be definitely cooler than the smoke of the other three brands."

Weekly Health Talk

"One frequently hears these days that it is impossible to take the customary vacation owing to the depression. And if travel curves for rail, steamship and bus companies are any indication that people are seriously adopting such an attitude, then there appears to be some proof of it. The fact remains, however, that the vacation is just as essential as in former seasons. Health cannot be made subversive to economic conditions. Nature's laws were conclusively established long before banking systems and Wall Street; and nature is entirely indifferent to them," states Doctor Theodore B. Appel, State Secretary of Health.

"The point to be stressed, therefore, is that no matter how 'depressed' one may happen to be, he can not afford to depress himself out of the usual fortnight's sojourn. Or to put in more positive terms, there perhaps never was a period since the World War when the body and mind of the average citizen so needed healthful relaxation, change of scene and comparative freedom from worry than just now.

"Incidentally, it has been many years since travel rates have been so moderate as at present. And real thrift will be splendidly carried out if a small measure of one's income, or even reserve is spent for a healthful change of scene.

"If one's tastes, on the other hand tend to the automobile there are the magnificent highways and secondary roads of Pennsylvania which lead to some of the finest open spaces in the United States and right within the confines of this great Commonwealth at that. Moreover throughout the state are to be found many fine camping grounds as well as more formal outdoor recreational centers easily and delightfully accessible by automobile.

"Thousands of Pennsylvanians have already this year availed themselves of the privileges of these public, semi-public and private camping grounds. Many harrassed minds and bodies desperately in need of rest, recreation and a healthful change have thus been definitely benefited. These camps are all carefully supervised by the State Health Department from the standpoints of sanitation and safe milk and water supplies.

"It is quite immaterial whether one takes a trip by rail, steamship, bus or automobile. It is likewise of little consequence whether one patronizes an outdoor camp or stops at a more formal summer resort. But it is essential that the body and health-building possibilities of a sensible fortnight's excursion be realized. One is a spendthrift of health, even in these hard times, if he is satisfied with less."

DECLARE REYNOLDS, TOBACCO PRINCE, A SUICIDE

Many Questions Go Unanswered

Motive For Suicide Is Not Clear—Community Is Aroused

CORONER SAYS NO INQUEST CALLED

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., July 7.—Smith Reynolds, tobacco prince, was officially recorded a suicide today.

His Broadway bride, Libby Holman, with the voice like Way-Down South, was still prostrated. Authorities left her alone with her grief.

It may be bad manners to question the demise of a member of the ruling house.

All Not Told?

Yet, throughout this thriving city dependent upon the industry fathered by the Reynolds millions there seethed an undercurrent of public opinion that everything had not been told.

Coroner W. N. Dalton said he would return a verdict of suicide. He abandoned his previous plan of holding an inquest and said no jury will be summoned.

But, the grieving relatives persisted in their belief that the shooting was accidental.

Smith Reynolds, twenty years of age, and twenty times a millionaire, who loved to fly and play and love, was dead with a bullet through his head.

Why Suicide?

Why should he have killed himself?

Only an hour before the baby of the Reynolds family was found by his bride fatally wounded in the sleeping porch of his showplace mansion, he had talked eagerly of a night flight over this city in a new type of aeroplane. The sleeping porch adjoined the bedroom of his wife.

These night excursions in a plane were the favorite desserts of young Reynolds when he was torching along Broadway.

When he was courting his bride, almond-eyed, temperamental Libby Holman, of the moaning-low voice, he would take her up to see the Broadway dawn from a plane.

Many Queries

Libby Holman found the body. It was after they had entertained a group of guests. The party was over for young Reynolds. Libby screamed. Edward Walker, house guest and friend of Smith, responded. "I'm sure it was accidental," said Walker. "Smith was probably cleaning his gun. He might have wanted to take it down town with him."

Reynolds had gone to change his clothes to go down town with Walker.

Why would Reynolds want to take his gun down town with him in the middle of the night?

There were supposed to be but four guests at the party in the Reynolds mansion before the tragedy.

Any Quarrel?

Was there a quarrel at any time during the evening?

Were there any uninvited guests?

The Reynolds mansion was the mecca for the younger social set of Winston-Salem.

What were the names of all those who visited Libby and Smith that night?

Was there an abundance of liquor served?

Young Reynolds was known to be a personal anti-prohibitionist.

Why do the police think it was a suicide rather than an accident?

Any Note?

Was there a note left behind by Reynolds giving the reasons for his act?

Authorities have no answers to these questions. Perhaps they do not know the answers.

However, the name of Reynolds is a magical one in this largest city in the state.

Young Reynolds loved his singing bride madly, friends declared. He was jealous of her at times.

Libby would laugh at his outbursts and make him forget it with a kiss.

They recalled how Smith followed Libby all over the road when she was singing "blue" songs in musical comedy. After he took his first wife, Anne Cannon Reynolds, to Reno for a divorce, long-distanced Libby and threatened to commit suicide if she didn't marry him.

Citizens speculated today on the fortune Miss Holman would inherit. Reynold's wealth was estimated at above $20,000,000 but it could not be learned whether he had left a will. It was generally understood the widow would inherit his share of the huge Reynolds' estate.

Boros Challenge Welkers Statements Before Commission

Hearing In Mercer And Lawrence County Case Still In Progress

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 7.—Counsel for several western Pennsylvania boroughs now fighting alleged excessive utility rates today challenged statements of a witness for the response before the public service commission.

The witness was L. E. Welker, chief engineer for the Pennsylvania fuel and Supply Company who made an inventory and appraisal of the properties of the Union Heat and Light Company which is contesting claims of the boroughs of Grove City, Sandy Lake, Stoneboro and Volant.

Examination of Welker centered almost entirely on his listing of non-protesting towns in the consuming area served by the company. The communities of Maxwell, Moser, Mill Run and McBride were cited as having been listed as "towns" in the record, under questioning, however, Welker admitted these communities were comprised of one or two houses and an occasional filling station.

"Is McBride another one-house proposition?" he was asked.

"My recollection is that it is similar to the others mentioned—a roadside hamlet." was Welker's reply.

Welker likewise said that the "towns" of East Brook, Leesburg and Blacktown were not communities with corporate boundaries although they were listed as non-protesting towns.

Counsel for the plaintiffs argued that these communities supported the protests of the other boroughs although they were unable to file protests as corporate towns against the defendant company.

PRETT SIGHT AT HOYT PROPERTIES

Oil Lease Leads To Court Hearing

John And Hattie Jones Want Accounting From H. L. Fry On Oil Royalties

Additional testimony is being taken before Judge James A. Chambers at court today in the equity suit of John and Hattie Jones of Mahoning township, against H. L. Fry.

The case grows out of trouble over an oil lease. Plaintiff's leased four wells to Fry, who was also to put down additional wells within a specified time.

The oil was to be delivered in Youngstown, and plaintiffs were to get one-eighth royalty. Deliveries were made and payments received for some time. Fry was then unable to sell his oil in Youngstown, and according to the plaintiffs, began selling it wherever he could.

While the Youngstown firm was buying the oil, regular statements were received by Jones, showing the amount produced, but when Youngstown sales were stopped, it is claimed by plaintiffs that no statements were furnished them, and further that they were prevented from learning the exact amount of oil which was being sold. The suit was brought to secure an accounting. Judge Chambers, after hearing several witnesses, took the papers in the case and will render a decision later.

Dry Democrats In Senate Will Fight Against Beer Bill

Ignore Party Platform And Plan To Fight Against Bingham's Beer Bill

HOPE TO AVOID DIRECT VOTE

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Ignoring their party platform declaration for immediate modification of the Volstead act, senate Democrats were prepared today to defeat the Bingham 3.2 per cent beer bill offered as a "rider" to the home loan banking act.

The Democrats were reported anxious to avoid a direct vote on the beer issue. Consequently, a motion will be made to refer the proposal to the senate judiciary committee for a report on its constitutionality under the 18th amendment. This would delay a beer vote until after the November elections.

Apparently fearful of the political effects of a beer vote in the present session, numerous drys joined with Republican insurgents in adopting the Couzens substitute for the administration's home loan bill. It was reported they took this action in the belief it would shut off all other amendments, including the beer bill. They were in error, as the parliamentary clerk ruled amendments were still in order.

Scouts' Night Show Cheered By Parents

Rip-Roaring Cast Scores In 'Mellerdrammer'; Camp Activity Brisk

CAMP JOHN M. PHILLIPS, July 7.—An unusually interesting and attractive campfire program Wednesday evening brought to a close at Camp Phillips another day that was crammed full of enthusiasm. All of the sketches were well received by the audience but the feature of the evening was a talking picture, "The Supreme Sacrifice," in three struggles, which were full of Indians, cowboys, beautiful girls and prairie flowers. The heroine, Lady Clara, was taken by Bob Miner; Alkali Ike, Bud McCamic; Daring Nell, Dick Hamilton; Jazzhound Hank, Bill Shira; Chief Mud-in-the-Face, Bob Moore. Bill Boston made a supreme sacrifice all his own when he offered to take the part of Chief Hole-in-the-Breeches, whose costume called for the wearing of a breech-cloth only. "The Mellerdrammer," a sketch already repeated once, was called forth again by popular request. Bud Coss and Ralph Davies were so much alike in a stunt that they were named "Two Peas in a Pod". Bob Miner went to buy groceries in another stunt and managed to get a box of crackers from the storekeeper, Dick Hamilton, without paying for them. This campfire, said by some of the old timers to be one of the best, was presented by Al Stump.

Martins Hold Banner.

The inspection banner stayed on Martin hut, New Castle troop 17, for the fourth consecutive day. No other hut seems to be quite good enough to beat them. Bob Minor was the individual high point scorer for the day with 115 points toward a second year emblem.

Many articles are being made of leather and applications for badges are being turned in already. Today marked the beginning of the life saving instruction for Bob Moore, Bill Boston, George Fisher, Bill King, Bud McCamic, Bill Shira, Bob Miner, Dick Hamilton, Ralph Davies and Frank Everson, who are trying for the junior Red Cross life guard and for Goddon Welch and Al Stump, trying for senior Red Cross life guard. The are being instructed by Sandy Howard.

No organized games were played. Boating was as popular as ever, with archery, basketball and football completing that part of the program. The surprise game of the day was the tennis match between LeRoy Norton, camp director, and Tom Harris, a camper. Harris did the surprising by winning the match. Two other sets were reported. Elverson beat Welch in singles and Boston and Hamilton beat Elverson and Welch in doubles.

Visitors For Night.

Visitors registering with the camp clerk were as fellows: Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Harris, Mrs. McCormack, Martha Jean Harris, Jean Zeigler, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Dean, Billy Dean, W. J. Retired Major General Says "Nation Without Pride In Government"

NEW YORK, July 7.—Any nation which today exists without pride in its own form of government is "politically dyspeptic," Major General Smedley D. Butler, United States Marine Corps, retired, told a meeting of the General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen.

"There has developed a new Tory class," he asserted, "a group that believe the nation, its resources and its man power, was provided by the almighty for its own special use and profit."

Ruth Chatterton To Wed Again

George Brent

A question of etiquette is believed responsible for the breach between Ruth Chatterton, stage and screen star, and her husband, Ralph Forbes, also of the movies. Gossip has it that Ruth liked to relax in filmy pajamas after a hard day at the studio and her husband, English-born, preferred to dress for dinner. It is rumored Miss Chatterton, who now is in Paris, will wed George Brent, also an actor, as soon as she obtains her divorce. The actress met Brent during the filming of "The Rich Are Always With Us". She is understood to have said that she still entertains a high regard for Forbes but that their romance is over.

BRIDE MUST USE CARE IN CHOOSING HER FURNITURE

Care must be used by the bride in choosing the period furniture with which she furnishes her house. Regency, empire and directoire are all much in vogue. Victorian is also much used, while modern designs have passed the experimental stage, although they are not easy to work with. The safest way to furnish your home is to have the advice of a professional decorator. Failing that, go slow, is the best advice for the bride. She is shown in the left-hand picture hanging her draperies. At right is a charming arrangement of dressing table and draperies in the master bedroom.

Anti-Trust Laws Claimed Retard Sugar-Petroleum

Recovery Of Two Important Industries Retarded By strict Federal Laws

SUIT DECISION EAGERLY AWAITED

(International News Service)

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., July 7.—Federal anti-trust laws have retarded the recovery of the sugar and petroleum industries, Russell Palmer, trade journal editor, declared today at the sixth annual session of the University of Virginia's institute of public affairs.

Attempts to curb overproduction in both oil and sugar have been thwarted by the federal laws designed to prevent restraint of trade, Palmer said.

He cited the suit instituted by the government against the sugar institute, an organization formed by refiners to end unethical trade practices. Price fixing, he said, had never been within the scope of the institute. Yet this boy was indicted in 1931 on grounds of contravening the present law.

"The trial has not reached its conclusion and the outcome probably will not be determined for many months to come," he declared, "but the attack has had the effect of throwing the trade into a state of confusion that is extremely costly to the industry and may bring disaster to some of its members regardless of the final decision."

Palmer also pointed to a proposal by Cuban sugar producers in 1930 and 1931 that principal exporting countries should segregate their surplus stocks for gradual distribution and for the time should not add to these stocks by overproduction.

Statue Of Christ To Be Landmark At Dublin Harbor

All The Money For It Has Been Raised By Subscription

PARIS, July 7.—One of the most striking landmarks of the world and the largest statue of Christ, the King, is nearing completion in the Parisian studio of Irish-American sculptor, Andrew O'Connor, formerly of New York, now a resident of Paris.

It will stand 100 feet high, the figure of Christ measuring thirty feet, surmounting a plain triangular column of 70 feet. The whole work is of grey granite and is O'Connor's own conception of Christ, the King. It is to be erected at a cost of $125,000 on a spot overlooking Kingstown Harbor, Dublin, where a concrete replica in miniature is already on view so that visitors can see what the finished work will be like.

All of the money for this statue has been raised by voluntary subscription and it is believed that the arrival of hundreds of Irish-Roman Catholics from all parts of the world for the great Eucharistic Congress in Dublin will bring in the required sum.

O'Conner is well known all over the world for his original work. Four years ago he won the gold medal for sculpture at the Paris Salon, an honor rarely offered to a foreign artist. He studied with Rodin in Paris and in his early days lived in London, numbering such men as Whistler and Lord Leighton among his friends.

At night the statue will be floodlit and sailors eight miles out at sea will see it towering like a great white shaft into the sky.

Gorilla Kills Python In Fierce Battle

(International News Service)

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., July 7.—A fight in which a gorilla killed a 30-foot python was described here by Lum Clark, operator of an animal farm near here and a former circus performer.

Clark said the gorilla broke from its cage, dashed across the yard, snatched the python from its cage and dragged it back to the gorilla pen where the fight took place.

Mrs. Clark, also a former circus performer, rescued the snake from the cage while Clark beat off the gorilla. The python died a few minutes later. Clark said the gorilla apparently had been nursing a long-standing grudge against the python, since the animal made no attempt to escape or molest anything else, but immediately attacked the snake.

Ewe Attacks Coyote To Rescue Lamb

(International News Service)

VICTORIA, B. C., July 7.—A picture of a ewe attacking a coyote was the unusual sight witnessed by Bert Waby, Jr., rancher living in the Salmon Arm district.

Waby was following his flock of lambs with a rifle, hoping to bag a coyote that had been raiding his flock. A short distance from the farmhouse the coyote appeared and seized a lamb, whose plaintive bleats brought the angry ewe charging to the rescue head down. Releasing the lamb to attack the mother, the coyote came to grief through a bullet from Waby's rifle.

Ranchers in the district say it is the first time to their knowledge a ewe has ever had the courage to attack a coyote.

Legislature Responsible For Increased State Cost According To Pinchot

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 7. — Both houses of the legislature today were reminded in a formal communication from Gov. Gifford Pinchot that much of the increased cost of state government was the result of increased subsidies which that body has granted.

The governor discussed at length the increases in the cost of government and the causes which brought them about, pointing to certain subsidies as "services paid for by the commonwealth for the relief of local taxpayers."

Purely Factual.

The communication was purely factual and without making any positive appeal the executive explained that "if the commonwealth does not pay for them (the subsidies) the people of Pennsylvania will either be deprived of these essentials of civilized government, or they will have to be paid for out of increased local taxation.

The subsidies listed by the governments include those for health clinics and the various kinds of inspections made by the state to promote health and industrial safety were cited as things which either must be paid for out of state funds or abandoned entirely.

Not Excessive.

The governor also reminded the legislature that the majority of the increased functions which have been loaded upon the various state departments were the result of legislative enactment.

Exclusive of such increased expenditures the governor maintained that the increased cost of state government has not been excessive. According to the governor's figures the increase between the fiscal year 1915-16 and 1931-32 was $5,429,236. That total, the governor said, is exactly the same amount which he has ordered out from the expenditures during the next fiscal year.

'Sleeper Planes' Are Predicted By Rickenbacker

(International News Service)

FORT WORTH Texas, July 7—"Sleeper airplanes" will probably be the next great advancement in aerial transportation, according to Colonel Eddie Rickenbacker, America's first ranking ace in the World War, and vice president of American Airways.

Rickenbacker was here for the inauguration of night passenger service between Dallas and Fort Worth and California. He was honorary co-pilot on the first night plane making the trip between Dallas and Los Angeles.

"Passenger planes have already shown that night flying and schedules are safe and practical. Flying instruments, beacons and lighted airports are major developments in making night schedules safe, and the coming of sleeper airplanes will add to the comfort of night travel," Col. Rickenbacker said.

"By the use of night schedules a business man is able to make a hurried business trip from New York to Los Angeles and miss only one day from work," he said.

NEW SPEED MARK IN OHIO LAWSUIT

(International News Service)

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., July 7—A new record for speed in handling of law suits was established here when a suit was filed and answered, a jury sworn, a verdict returned and a check received by the plaintiff for the amount within a half an hour.

The suit was filed by attorneys for John Howard of Roswell against the William Mann Co., of Philadelphia, Pa., for $2,500 for injuries received at Roswell by Howard when he was struck by a Mann Co., truck. Attorneys filed answer to the suit at the same time.

Then all parties concerned walked into Judge E. E. Lindsay's common pleas court where a jury was sworn in and instructed to return a verdict for $1,900. An insurance agent immediately handed Howard the check.

GOLD PRODUCTION INCREASING STEADILY

(International News Service)

DENVER, Col., July 7—Eminent geologists have erred in believing that the world's production of gold would decline. Scott Turner, director of the United States bureau of mines and president of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, while on a recent visit to Denver, revealed that gold production was on the increase.

"The world's monetary gold supply is 11,400 million dollars," he said. "The world's new production is about 400 million dollars a year and it has been increasing. Geologists who have predicted a decline in the Rand have been mistaken for last year the Rand's production was the greatest in history and this year it promises to be greater still."

But if the man who wasn't sent across can get a pension, why not the man who registered and wasn't called?

CAR THIEVES HAVE BRAND-NEW RACKET

(International News Service)

FORT WORTH, Texas, July 7—Officers here are trying to stamp out a new racket.

Car thieves have changed their practice of stealing the autos to "kidnaping" them. They abscond with a car and then notify the owner that they will leave it where it can be found by police for a certain fee, the amount depending on the value of the car and the wealth of the owner. If the owner refuses to pay the ransom, the car is then sent through the channels of the usual stolen car.

Women Artists From America Exhibit In Paris

Attempt To Show Phase Of American Temperment

(International News Service)

PARIS, July 7—For the first time, a group composed exclusively of American-born women artists is showing their work at the Galerie Zak here.

These young women intend to show a phase of the American temperament in painting among the art circles of Paris. The tendencies of the group are towards constructive painting, based more or less on the study of rhythms, progression of color and balanced composition. They lean a trifle toward the modern camp, although none of these artists can be called extremists in any sense of the term. They are most of them exhibitors at the Salon d'Automne and the Tuileries Salon.

Bertha Fanning Taylor of New York City, who is directing this exposition, is showing some fine examples of fresco, together with Mabel Gardner of Philadelphia. Lillian Fisk has some charming portrait studies and Janet Scudder several flower pastels which have a most refreshing old-fashioned look to them. Gwen Le Gallienne, daughter of Richard Le Gallienne of New York, is represented by some portraits as well as several busts. Mary Ashburton of Hazleton, Pa., and Sybil Emerson of Boston have some pleasant landscapes and old-world scenes.

Another American artist now claiming attention in the capital is Louis M. Eilchemius of New York City, who worked for 40 long years as a writer, musician and painter, observing and noting down all the beauty he could find. He was disdained and even neglected until a Frenchman, Marcel Duchamp, visiting New York in 1917, called notice to his work. This led to a first exhibition in 1922. Since this day, Eilshemius has had continued success and Parisian critics now agree that "he is a poet who dreams and who paints them with greatest charm."

Award Of King Comes Too Late As Veteran Dies

LONDON, July 7.—A dreamed-of honor which came too late was awarded when King George gave a worker in the British museum the Order of the British Empire for long services.

The honored was William Alcert Pinker, who for 60 years had worked among the priceless pieces of statuary in the British museum.

He was 85 when the honor came to him. But he never heard the award publicly read. He died a few hours before in a local hospital.

The doctors, hoping to prolong his life, told him that the honor would come.

"That is the finest thing that has happened in my life," he told them.

He wanted to read of the award in the paper and wear the medal just once, but he died before it could be brought to him.

Pirates Thump Giants Twice

Pittsburgh Pirates Out In Front By Three And One Half Games Today

YOUNGSTERS ARE PROVING HELP

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 7—The owners of the Yankees, Giants and other clubs that spent huge sums for minor league lemons must be grinding their molars as they contemplate the luck of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who are battling their way to a pennant with a keystone pair that cost only a song.

Shortstop Floyd Vaughan and second baseman Tony Piet, whose stellar play is keping the bucs in the race, are getting only about $3,000 each, whereas such expensive investments as Len Koenecke, Jack Saltzgaver and Frank Crosetti have been found wanting.

Pirates Increase Lead

The Bucs stretched their winning streak to six games by two-timing the Giants yesterday, 4 to 2 and 3 to 1, with Steve Swetonic and Larry French hurling gilt-edged ball. Piet got four hits and Vaughan three.

Pittsburgh's lead in the National League race was increased to 3½ games as the Cubs took second place by beating the Phillies 6 to 1 while Boston lost to St. Louis 4 to 2, and dropped into the third slot.

Cincinnati made it five wins in a row when Owen Carroll beat the Dodgers, 6 to 4 but fat Freddie Heimach of the Brooklyn mound corps tamed the rampant Reds in the nightcap, winning 3 to 2.

Boston's Red Sox started a long home stay auspiciously when Manager Marty McManus smacked a double in the ninth inning that beat St. Louis 5 to 4.

REGARDING PERSONAL HYGIENE

If you have not been in the habit of taking a daily bath now is a good time to begin. If possible you should take a shower or a plunge every morning and if possible you have been indulging in a game during the day should take another shower to wash the perspiration from your body.

Shampoo your hair every week, using plain or castle coap, which is made from olive oil. Rinse hair thoroughly and dry it well.

Keep your finger and toe nails manicured and use your nail file to remove any deposits from under the nails.

See to it that your bowels are moved every day, if possible at the same hour. If you eat plenty of fruit and green leafy vegetables you will not be troubled with constipation.

"Slobbering is a sign of idiocy." How true, doctor. Especially if you do it over a crooner.

Market Tone Reactionary

Little Change In Stock Market Leaders During Morning

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 7—Fresh weakness in the utilities under the leadership of American Telephone turned the stock market generally lower after the first hour today.

The reactionary tone of the market was apparently due in a substantial measure to the disappointment over the failure of the Lausanne conference to come to terms as had been expected by this morning.

In the utility group American Telephone after opening at 76 3-8 eased off for a net loss of 1 point. Consolidated Gas, United Corp., and Public Service Corp., of N. J., declined in sympathy.

International Shoe suffered another sinking spell dipping to a new low at 23, off 4 points.

The Steel shares were further expressed by the weakness in U. S. Steel Common and Preferred which sold down a fraction and more than a point respectively.

Local tractions were a feature on the upside as Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit ran ahead more than a point on the expectation of favorable action on the unification program which will be taken up by the board of estimate this afternoon.

Oils were generally steady and maintained a comparatively good time reflecting the sharp decrease in gasoline stocks reported today.

With the exception of the news from Lausanne there was little to influence the market in either direction.

Ready To Ask Bids For New Post Office

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 7.—Bids will be asked for the construction of the new Ellwood City post office late this month unless some unforseen delay occurs. This was the word given out at the Treasury Department today.

It was stated at the office of L. C. Martin, chairman of the Joint Building Committee, that present indications have it the job will be placed on the market around the last of this month. All plans and drawings have been completed and are now being checked for approval by Treasury draftsmen.

The Treasury has reconsidered its original plan to let the contract of the foundation separate from the contract for the actual construction, and will ask bids for the entire job.

As yet, Treasury officials are unable to estimate when bids may be called for the New Castle post office. They still think, however, that this will come late in the summer.

Tender Reception To Rev. And Mrs. Osterhouse Here

Over 200 Present To Honor New Baptist Minister Wednesday Night

ELLWOOD CITY July 7—It was a fitting manner in which the Rev. and Mrs. Bernie G. Osterhouse were honored last evening in the basement of the First Baptist church by the congregation. Over 200 people crowded the dining room of the church to give welcome to their new minister.

In the group were three visiting pastors who all gave short fitting talks. They were the Rev. J. R. Routledge, Rev. H. G. Woodrow of New Castle and Rev. H. D. Maxwell. Pleasure was expressed by the speakers in having such a man as Rev. Osterhouse in their midst.

The affair was held in a setting of beautiful summer flowers arranged by Mr. Eichenlaub of this city who in his clever way has made some beautiful effects.

An elaborate program was carried out during the evening. There were vocal solos, duets, ladies quartet and men's trio. Several excellent musical numbers also featured. After the talks by the above three ministers, Rev. Osterhouse gave a few words of thanks and appreciation for the honor shown him. He received a surprise when a group of youngsters came forth and presented him with a bouquet of roses. Then the B. Y. P. U. put on a stunt. At the conclusion of the program all present lined up to congratulate Rev. and Mrs. Osterhouse. Lunch was then served at several tables. It was served by the wives of the deacons of the church and Mrs. Sarver's Sunday School Class.

Much credit for the success of the affair is due John Hough who had arranged the program and presided as master of ceremonies.

Collects Budgets

Mrs. Jean W. Wittich

The only woman state budget commissioner in the United States, Mrs. Jean W. Wittich, of Minnesota, collects budgets for a hobby, she says. She believes that "government must reduce its expenditures to square with the decrease in income brought on by the depression, but must protect and care for its unfortunate citizens whose welfare is its chief concern."

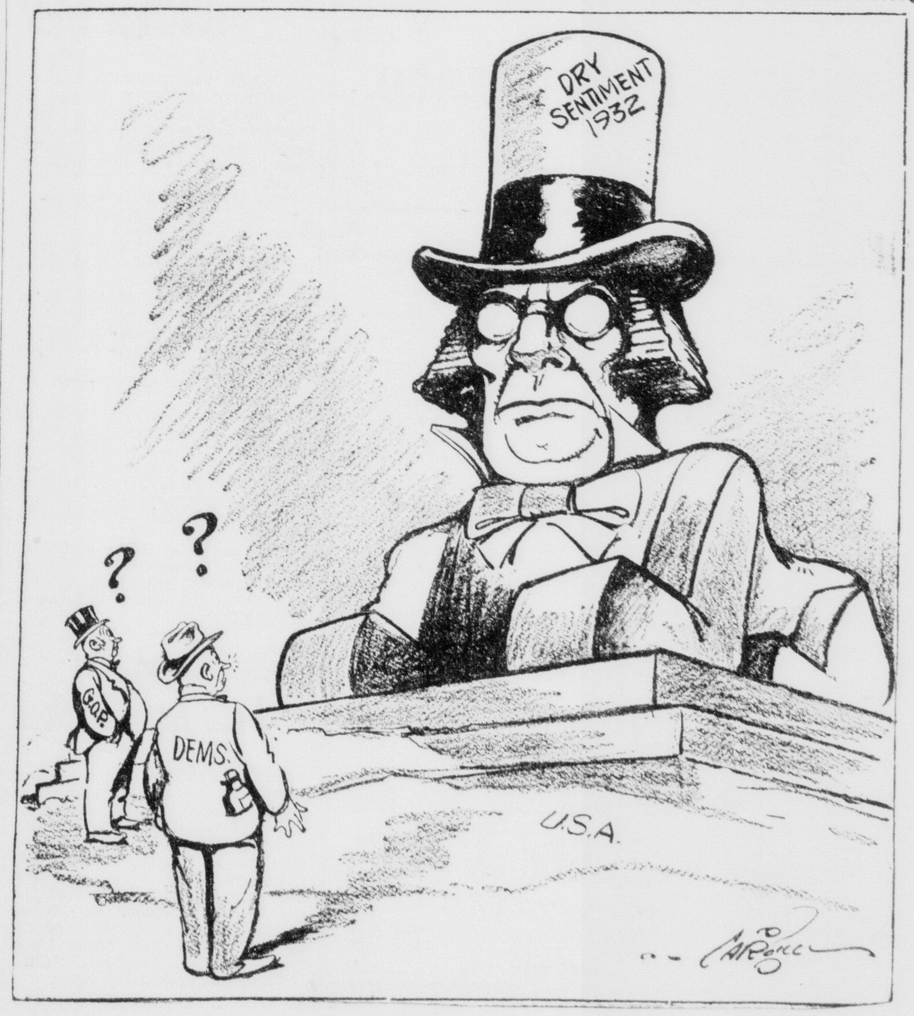
THE BIG RIDDLE



Germany-France Seek Agreement For Reparations

Final Effort Being Made At Geneva Today To Get Big European Powers Together

MacDONALD IS FORCED TO BED

Equality And Elimination Of Versailles Treaty Is Asked By German Chancellor

By ARNO DOSCH-FLEUROT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LAUSANNE, July 7.—Franz Von Papen, German chancellor, called at the headquarters of Edourd Herriot, French prime minister, today in a final effort to reach a settlement that will prevent the collapse of the Lausanna reparations conference.

Von Papen visited Herriot at the pleading of Premier MacDonald of Great Britain, who, exhausted by a series of unsuccessful conversations, returned to his bed with a severe headache after breakfast this morning.

Germany Asks Equality.

MacDonald's illness is attributed to his inability to induce the French premier last night to accept the political conditions Von Papen would attach to a reparations settlement, namely, the elimination of the Versailles treaty clause placing sole blame for the World war on Germany, and Germany's demand for equality of treatment at the Geneva disarmament conference.

The German proposals, Herriot replied indignantly, were tantamount to tearing up treaty of Versailles.

"We have practically wiped out reparations at the insistence of the British," said the French prime minister, after he had left MacDonald. "I don't intend to break up the conference on the question of the small amount of reparations remaining but I refuse to yield on a question of principle such as war responsibility."

MacDonald Suffering.

LONDON, July 7.—Reports from Lausanna today that Premier MacDonald is suffering violent headaches, forcing him to bed, are alarming to his friends.

They fear that the strain of the last 16 days, coming so soon after an operation on one of his eyes, may seriously impair his eye-sight.

Cleverest Thief In All England Goes To Prison

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 7. — A career of crime that has lasted for fifty years and a reputation of being the cleverest jewel thief in England.

That is the standing which an 83 year old man has with the London police.

He has been sentenced to a six months term, following his most recent theft—a haul of watches, cufflinks, brooches and other articles.

But this sentence is a mere holiday for "the cleverest jewel thief in England. Since the start of his long and distinguished career in 1875, he has been sentenced to more terms than he can remember.

In his appeal before the magistrate, he said:

"I have tried to go honest, but I have never had a chance. I was only a boy when I was first sentenced, and that was to seven years' penal servitude."

BABY SEAL FOUND IN MOUNTAIN LAKE

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, July 7—Imagine the embarrassment of early risers at Lake Elsinore when they discovered a half grown seal of the salt water fur-bearing variety crawling from the limpid waters of the lake onto a diving board.

And imagine the seal's embarrassment when he was roped and photographed.

All agreed it was the first time a seal ever took a swim in Lake Elsinore—1500 feet above sea level.

Lakesiders thought the seal must have been "planted" in the lake, and they feared destruction of game fish.

Britons Approve Hoover Proposal In Reducing Arms

Acting Premier Baldwin Says British Will Accept Hoover's Plan

NOT SO STRONG ON NAVAL CUTS

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 7.—The British government welcomes President Hoover's proposal for a one third armament reduction, acting Premier Stanley Baldwin told the house of commons today.

"The government," he said, "desires to record its agreement with President Hoover that problems of military, naval and air disarmament are interconnected.

"In the realm of land disarmament the British government is largely in agreement with the Hoover proposals.

"In the naval proposals, having regard to the widely scattered responsibilities of the British navy, it is not practical to cut down the number of naval units beyond a certain point.

"The government, however, believes that large reductions amounting to one-third, in both battleships and cruisers could be made in future construction."

Broad Cuts

Pointing out that President Hoover wanted reduction carried out not only by broad cuts but also by increasing the comparative power of defense by decreased power of attack, Baldwin said:

"We desire to associate ourselves with these conceptions and to contribute all we can to secure their practical application.

"In the case of cruisers, the government is prepared to reduce the maximum size from the present 10,000 to 7,000 tons and gun calibres from 8 to 6.1 inches."

Historic Palace Now Is Home Of Ex-Plough Boy

James Hazen Hyde Now In Possession Of Old Estate

By WILLIAM PARKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, July 7.—Destiny, which so frequently plays odd pranks in the life of men, has placed a "dirt farmer" President in the palace where the beautiful Madame Pompadour reigned supreme in the 18th century when Louis XV ruled France.

Elysee Palace was built by Louis XV for "La Pompadour." It is only one of the numerous places which were placed at the disposal of the woman whose beauty and clever intriguing influenced history in many European countries.

"A country home"—which is now within the city of Paris—was allowed to deteriorate under the French Republic and was only recently restored by the American, James Hazen Hyde, in all of its one-time royal splendor.

Albert Lebrun, the 14th president of France, came into the presidency through assassination of President Doumer by Paul Gorguloff. The election of Lebrun at Versailles by the National Assembly was a triumph of French democracy, for Lebrun was a ploughboy in his native Lorraine before he entered Ecole Polytecnique.

Later he served with the artillery, and during the war commanded a squadron at Verdun in 1914. It was 1900 before he actively took up politics.

President Lebrun is a man of simple habits. He and his family rise at 6:30 o'clock every morning. Their breakfast is coffee and bread. They go frequently to the theatre and retire early.

At vacation time, when Lebrun's official duties as president of the Senate did not keep him in Paris, he would return to his native Lorraine, and again resume life as a dirt farmer.

Roosevelt Shies At Controversy On Modification

New York State Governor Will Not Get Into Any Controversy With Congress

IS STANDING FOR PARTY PLATFORM

(International News Service)

ALBANY, N. Y., July 7.—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic presidential nominee, does not intend to become involved in any controversy over modification of the Volstead law at the present session of congress, it was made clear at the Capitol today on behalf of the Governor.

Spokesman for Mr. Roosevelt pointed out that he stands four square on the Democratic platform which demands repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and immediate modification of the Volstead law but that he will not take the lead for any action at the present session of congress.

Stands For Platform

"Governor Roosevelt is trying to run the New York state government and he cannot be expected to attempt to dictate any congressional action," said a spokesman for the governor. "He is standing squarely on the Democratic platform. It is up to the Democrats in congress to interpret that as they see fit."

It was recalled at the Capitol, however, that Governor Roosevelt declared when John D. Rockefeller, Jr., came out for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, that he hoped it was paving the way for action either at the present session of congress or at the lame duck session in December.

Report Germany And France Are Now In Accord

New Reparations Treaty Drawn Up That Meets With Complete Satisfaction

SATISFIES DEMAND ERASING WAR GUILT

By AARNO DOSCH-FLEUROT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LAUSANNE, July 7. — A report that Chancellor France Von Papen of Germany and Premier Edouard Herriot of France had agreed upon the wording of a new reparations treaty replacing all previous reparations agreements was circulated here this afternoon.

The new treaty, it was reported, makes indirect reference to war guilt, satisfying Germany's demand for removal of this stigma.

The final figure of the lump sum to be paid by Germany in liquidation of her reparations obligations was reported at slightly less than $750,000,000.

Owner Recovers Stolen Horse By Old-Time Trick

(International News Service)

BELLE FOURCHE, S. D., July 7. —An old trick of the western plains hiding a coin under the skin of a horse—recently brought Lawrence Titus to trial on horse-stealing charges.

Titus was accused of stealing a horse from Oscar Orwick, a veteran rancher of Butte county.

"Why I raised that horse from a small colt," Titus told Justice of the Peace A. W. Smith.

"Since you've owned this horse practically its entire life, you probably know about the dime he carries," States Attorney C. P. Seward said.

"Dime? What dime?" asked Titus.

Seward revealed that Orwick a few weeks ago made a slight incision in the skin of the horse's front leg, and had inserted a thin dime under the hide. The incision had healed over, and shortly afterwards, Orwick said, the horse disappeared.

The practice of "dime branding" had its inception in the old days of the open range, when horse stealing was one of the major problems of this region.

SILVER CITY, N. M. July 7—Four Cliff, N. M. elementary grade school pupils suffered broken arms as the result of the same accident near here recently. Arthur Maxwell's right arm broken and Nettie Mae Brown and Maude Daniels suffered broken left arms.

Collegians Get Employment In National Parks

(International News Service)

DENVER, July 7.—Uncle Sam's western playgrounds have "gone collegiate" with the arrival of approximately 2,000 college students, both men and women, for summer employment.

In Yellowstone (Wyoming), Rocky Mountain (Colo.) Zion (Utah), and Glacier (Montana) national parks, students from all parts of the country are now serving the tourist hordes as packrats, gearjammers, heavers, pearl divers, wranglers, pillow punchers and busboys.

The entire group is known in national park parlance as "savages."

To the tourist the packrats will be porters; the gear jammers, bus drivers; the heavers, waiters; the pearl divers, dishwashers; the wranglers, horseback guides, the pillow punchers, maids, and the busboys, tray-bearers.

Cowboys from nearby ranges also are employed in the national parks during the summer, providing a colorful contrast to the collegiate atmosphere.

MEMORY OF HUBBARD IS KEPT ALIVE BY TREE

EAST AURORA, N. Y., July 7.—An apple tree here is keeping alive the memory of Elbert Hubbard, philosopher and lover of man, lost in the Lusitania disaster.

Charles J. Rosen, official of the Roycroft shops, and Elbert Hubbard III dedicated the tree at simple ceremonies here recently.

"Elbert Hubbard symbolized life," Rosen said, "and that is why we chose a tree instead of a building to dedicate to his memory.

"We thank God who made this tree, for Elbert Hubbard."

OHIO BLUEJAYS DECLARE WAR ON PEDESTRIANS

NORWALK, O., July 7.—Bluejays have declared war on Norwalk.

Persons walking through a clump of trees at a street intersection have heard the warning scream of half a dozen of the birds and been driven at a run from the scene. Arthur Pearl, J. E. Osborn and Paul Clark suffered severe facial scratches from the beaks and claws of the jays.

Officials attributed the attacks to annoyances suffered by the birds from boys violating their nests and molesting their eggs and young.

GIRL KILLED IN DUEL WITH CLUBS

(International News Service)

BUDAPEST, July 7—Two girls, Helen Bagi and Helen Fodor, both 21 years old, fought a savage duel with clubs in the village of Csengele over the love of a handsome swain. For 12 minutes they swung the sawed-off fence rails at each other until Miss Bago was almost instantly killed by a blow which crushed her skull. Miss Fodor was taken to the hospital with a broken collar bone. She has been placed under arrest together with two girl seconds who witnessed the duel.

SMART SPONGER MAKES $110 ON BOARD BILL

(International News Service)

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 7.—The depression proved the mother of ingenuity to W. J. Wilhelm.

Wilhelm lived in great style at a local boarding house, until the landlady presented a bill for $120.

Then he departed. The landlady caused his arrest and Wilhelm pleaded guilty. He was fined $10 or ten days in jail. He paid the fine and left, still $110 to the good.

"Owney" Madden Back In Prison

Powerful Racketeer And Beer Baron Of New York Is Again Locked Up

(International News Service)

OSSINING, N. Y., July 7.—In the drab grey garb obligatory for all inmates, for which he was compelled to exchange his natty suit of the latest Broadway pattern, Owen Madden today was once more just a convict serving time.

"Owney," reputedly one of New York's most powerful racketeers and beer barons, surrendered at the prison to which he drove in an expensive automobile, while scores of detectives looked for him as a parole violator who under court ruling must finish serving a term for manslaughter.

Madden was to be taken from his cell in the old stone block of the jail today to be finger printed, photographed and again questioned on the whereabouts of three of his henchmen who also were adjudged violators of parole.

Judge Peeved As House Wrecker Steals Bathtub

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Wash, July 7—Judge Adam Beeler, who resigned from the Washington supreme court to run for United States senator, wants his bathtub.

Edward Edwards, house wrecker, was sentenced to three months in jail because Judge Beeler's tub was missing.

The tub disappeared after Edwards sold to Robert H. Baird, another house wrecker, for $5, a partly wrecked house here belonging to Judge Beeler. Edwards said he had a right to sell the house. Judge Beeler arose and said dramatically: "Where is my bathtub?"

Deputy Prosecutor Ben Maslan assured the ex-justice every effort would be made to recover the tub. Police Judge John B. Gordon passed sentence on Edwards.

Asks Farmers To Breed Rare Weasels

Animal Small Enough To Catch Mice In Holes

(International News Service)

BOZEMAN, Mont., July 7.—Rating the scientific name of Mustela Rixosa or the more popular term "Least Weasel" is the way O. E. Stephl, state rodent control leader at Montana State college, describes a rare little animal recently sent him from Wibaux county, Montana, for identification.

According to Stephl, the little animal is so rare that only a few specimens are found in museums. It is the smallest of all weasels and the smallest known species of carnivore in the world. The one Stephl received measures slightly less than seven and one-half inches from the tip of its nose to the end of a very short tail. In color it is a rich dark brown above and a pure white below. During the winter it is pure white.

Stephl says of the tiny animal: "This small weasel exists almost entirely on mice, its small size enabling it to pursue them in their runways and underground burrows. Although its fur is beautiful the animals are too small to be of any value for their furs."

Because these diminutive weasels live almost entirely on mice, Stephl believes they should be protected because of the pests they will destroy around farm buildings. He suggests it might be worth while to obtain a family of young for breeding purposes as they would destroy enough pests to justify the work and would not molest poultry or other animals.

Educators Unable To Spend Oil Millions

AUSTIN, Tex., July 7.—When the Texas constitutional convention, many years ago, provided for a University of Texas, their first thought was to establish it financially and guard it forever against unwise use of the money.

So they allotted the university wide stretches of West Texas land, never dreaming that oil would be found on that land, and put in the constitution a provision that the income from that land should be placed in an untouchable permanent fund, with only the interest on the income available for use.

Oil was discovered in 1923. The last auditor's report shows today the University's permanent untouchable fund has grown to $18,317,492.12.

Notes Improvement In Public Morale

Not So Many Sitting Around Hoping For Something

(International News Service)

DENVER, Colo., July 7.—A great improvement in the optimistic spirit of the American people has taken place during the past year, according to George Lunn of Schenectady, N. Y., commander-in-chief of the United Spanish War Veterans. Lunn recently visited his widowed mother in Denver after completing a tour of 30 states.

"Physical conditions do not show much change," Lunn said, "but I see vast improvement in the psychology of our people. A year ago everybody seemed to be sitting down in a waiting mood, just hoping that something would turn up.

"This summer the public mind is different. It is hopeful and ambitious, and that is necessarily the first move toward restoration of prosperity, for as long as we think poverty we will have poverty. Our people are now trying to do something, and the very act of trying makes them cheerful."
